

Long Term Care Study

The purpose of this online survey was to gather information about the experiences of individuals receiving adult long term care supports such as Family Care or IRIS in Wisconsin. 206 people filled out the survey in total, which was composed of both individuals with disabilities and people on behalf of a person with a disability receiving long term care. The adults with disabilities whose long term care support experiences were described in the survey fell between the ages of 18 and 85+, with an average age range between 35 and 44 years old. They also represented all counties in the state of Wisconsin.

PROGRAM PARTICIPATION

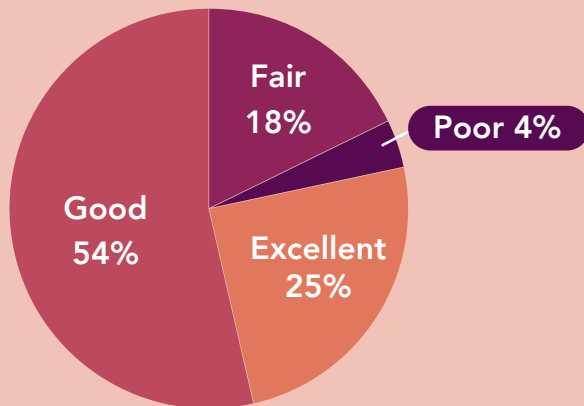

56% Include, Respect, I Self-Direct (IRIS)

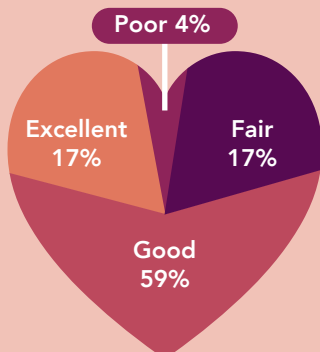

36% Family Care

2% both and 3% other

QUALITY OF LIFE AND SATISFACTION

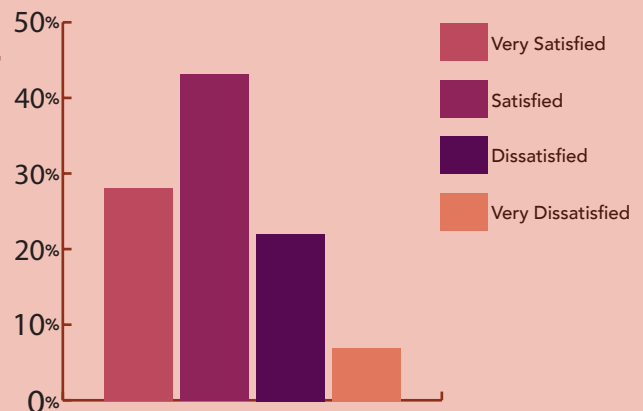

How would you rate your quality of life over the past four weeks?

How would you rate your current health?

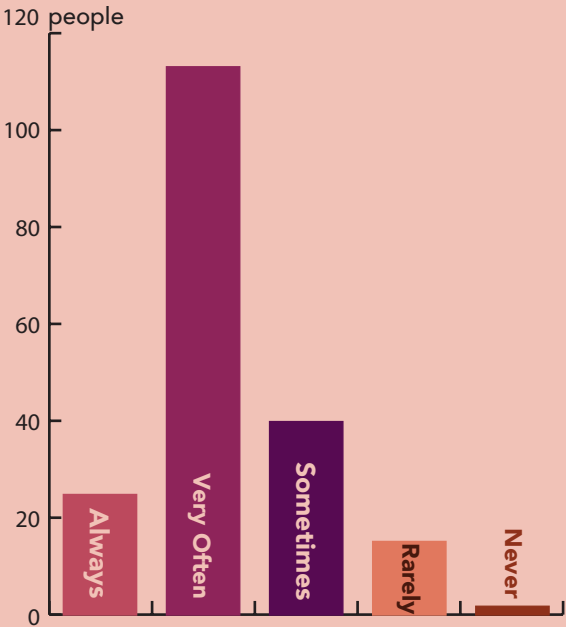

31%

of people reported being lonely always or very often

How satisfied were you with how much you were able to do things you like to do in your community?

QUALITY OF LIFE AND SATISFACTION

How often did you get to do things that make you feel happy?